Vibing With You

Coloring Book

Concept by: Kewayne Wadley

Artwork by: DrawTech Studio

Copyright 2023 © Kewayne Wadley

All rights reserved. No part of this book may be used or reproduced, distributed, or transmitted in any form or by any means, including photocopying, recording, or other electronic or mechanical methods, without the proper written permission of the publisher, except in the case of brief quotations apart, embodied in critical reviews and certain other noncommercial uses permitted by copyright law. Use of this publication is permitted solely for personal use and must include full attribution of the materials source.

To request permissions, please contact the Author at: Kwadley239@gmail.com

“You just get me. You fit the mold to the melody that plays in my head.

I enjoy spending time with you regardless of what we do. Sometimes I catch myself mouthing the words. If you look up, I’ll go back into whatever default I was doing before you realize. Soon as you’re not paying attention, I’ll start back mouthing the words. Every single time.”

"It's true what they say. Food absolutely brings us closer together. I cannot not think of a prettier sight. The corners of your mouth covered in cheese and bits of flakey crust. Soon you'll get embarrassed and cover your mouth trying to yell out 'stop'. It's moments like this that I adore you the most. Vulnerable and defenseless to be who you truly are. There isn't enough make up or enough nail polish in the world that could cover you in this moment. I love you just the way you are."

"If ever we're downtown and we're by those bikes, I'd love to ride one with you.

I would love to have known you when I was little. Chances are we would have ridden our bikes just like this. Around the corner. Around the block. just as fast as our legs would allow. There is no way to make up for lost time than now. Let's ride until our legs get tired. The boy in me longs for the girl in you."

"I love walking with you. I love how everything around us moves faster than we do.

No rush. Not a thing or place to be. Just you & I. Your hand in mine. I am willing to go wherever you want & talk about all the reasons you're the first thing on my mind when I wake up & the last thing on my mind before I fall asleep, discovering all the parts of the city we're normally too busy to see."

“Of all the things we could be doing. This by far is one of my favorites. I couldn’t think of Anything better to do with you than just sit here and do absolutely nothing.”

"Life is a beach & you are that much needed vacation I look forward to taking.
Your eyes, the sky I float through on the plane. Your lips, the way the water splashes against me.
Your heart, the volleyball I hope that bounces off my head and into my hands."

“Roses are red, your skin is brown. I look forward to the times ahead. My face downtown Taking in the wonderful sights before the festivities begin.”

"Like a river, my fingers spread and split through you not afraid to embrace the parts of you that you'd rather not speak about. I understand that this is not an overnight kind of thing, long as you understand too that like most rivers. They do not stop."

"You're the music to my favorite workout. You push me to be better. When I reach my limit
& I am ready to give up, you let me know that you are there with me. No matter how sore
I am. I am ready to push until I cannot anymore. You lift me up when I cannot lift myself."

"To be perfectly honest. I didn't care whether I won or lost. If it was hot or cold. If I could see the ball late hours of the night or not. Long as you were out there, I was out there, I couldn't see past you. I still can't. You're my teammate for life, my better half."

"You're the woman of my dreams. Every night you rip the runway of my heart in tremendous fashion.

I applaud you for seeing me for me and allowing me to create a safe place for you to be yourself.

You poured not just into yourself but into me as well. you helped me to see the best in me.

Your kisses match not just my suit but my soul. I refuse to do a single show without you beside me."

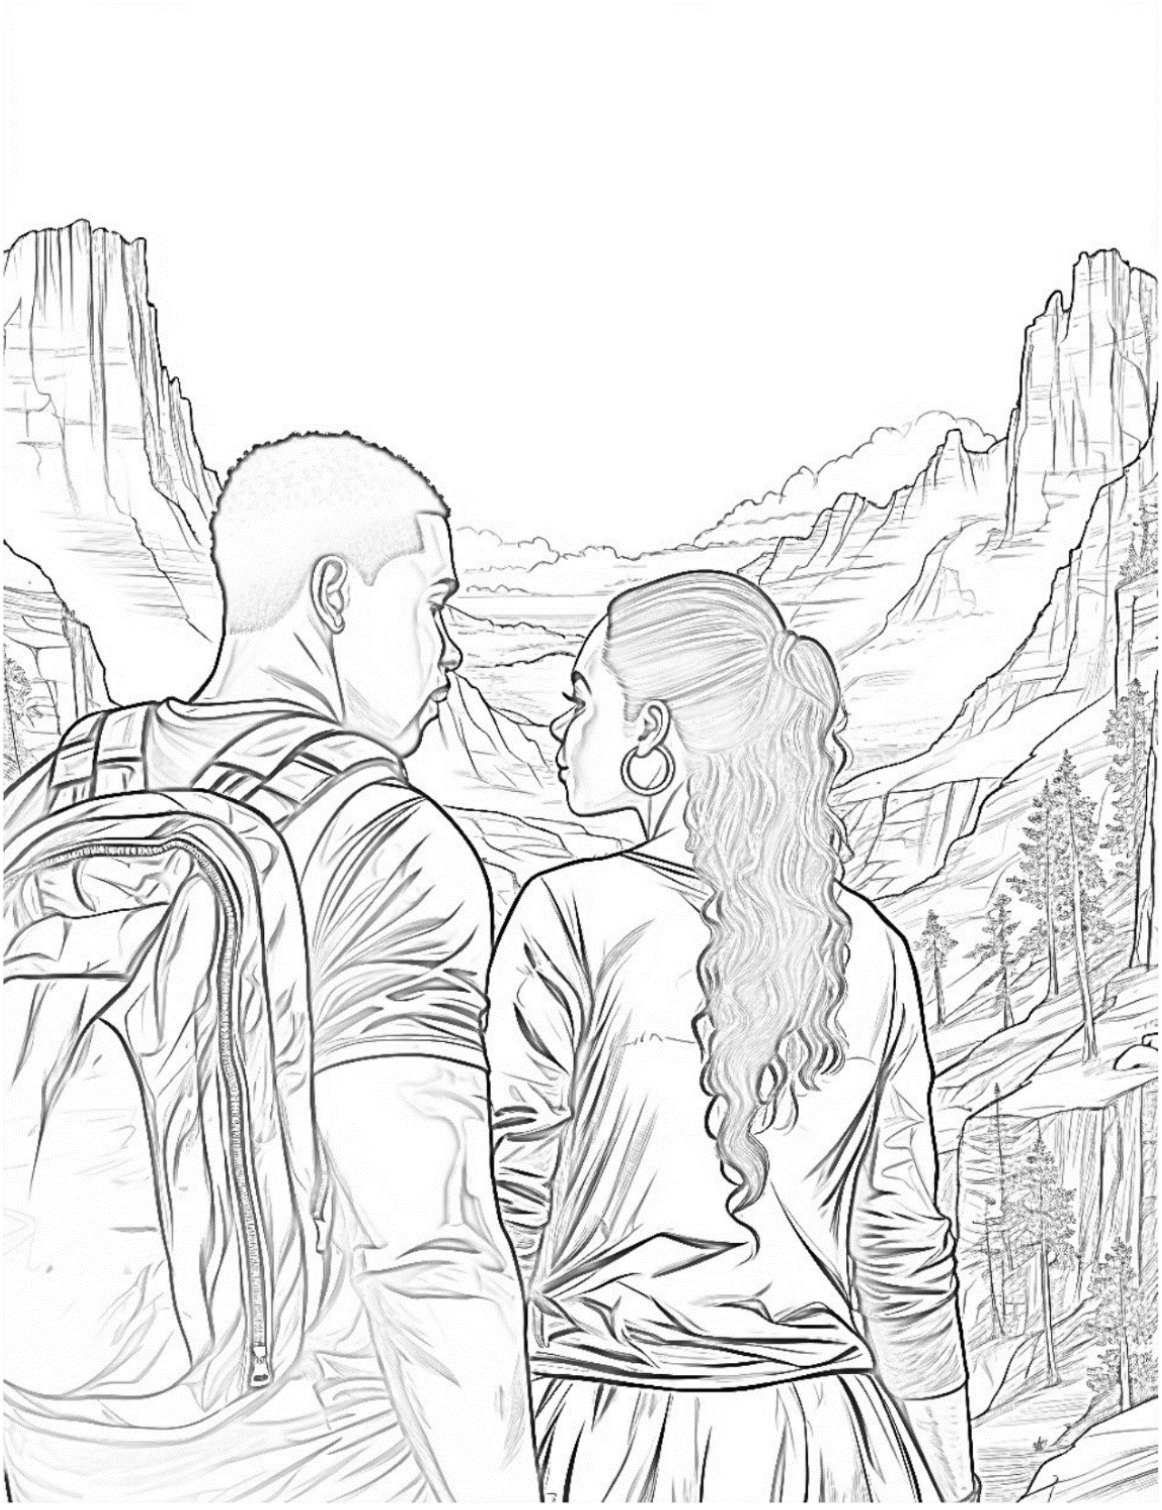
“Being around you is a present reminder. That despite what I’ve been through. Where I’ve been & the things to come. To not change a thing. I may not be the person I was but being around you makes me look forward to brighter days.”

"You're the best adventure I could've taken. There is no such thing as bored whenever you're around. I hardly want the trip to be over. When I close my eyes. There is no place I'd rather be. When I open my eyes, I know that there is no greater paradise. It all begins when I see your face. I've collected my ticket and boarded my train. In a place this beautiful, how could I afford to be lost."

"When it comes to traveling, there aren't too many places that I've been. There really isn't an excuse as to why. The number one place I really want to go is to "Together." Of all the beautiful things I've heard about it. it's a must on my list. To be honest I wouldn't mind living there, with the idea of you joining me. I don't know if you've heard anything about it or what your schedule looks like, but I'd like you to come with me."

“Yes, I’d like to order a cup of coffee with a smile as bright as the screen on my phone. I’ll take her with 4 swirls of crème, maybe 12 scoops of sugar. Excessively sweet to the point the inside of my mouth puckers but, I can’t stop drinking. I want her lips to overfill the cup and rush to meet mine just before the gap closes good when I pull her close. If I spill any of her on my clothes, I want it to be her that stains & gives me something to remember her throughout the day.”

“I couldn’t have dreamed of anything like this. Being where I am now. At both my lowest and high. You were there. You encourage the colors in my dreams to be brighter... and then some.”



“There is always a place for you in my heart. No matter if you leave for a while or choose to stay gone. The gentleness on my lips will wait for yours to return. Faith is but a crumbled-up dollar bill saved for a rainy day & I’ve saved plenty.”

"You make looking at the stars easier. I don't have to wait until it's dark. You understand my quiet. You understand that the imperfect things are exactly what makes them perfect. Your fragile as well as soft. There are times when stars fall from the sky, and no one knows where they go. I don't expect you to admit to it. but if you should ever fall again, I'll be there to catch you."

"My favorite fruits are those that look like they will reach out and grab you. I am intentional in the way that I taste you. I am intentional in my prayers that you are all that I need."

"We traveled,

Without a single word.

Left abroad, as all things that pass.

We were the only thing that furnished the space around us.

Without a single word.

We partook in sights that denounced us as things.

We soared as the clouds that journey through the sky.

We were the only things kept afloat.

An oasis in the desert of pillows where we rested our head.

Pleasant. Calm.

As we snorkeled into a deep sleep.

We partook in sights that denounced us as objects.

Faraway into the tourism which quenched our thirst.

As we never left our seat in the voyage of each other's eyes.

Without a single word.

We traveled."

“No matter how much time passes. There is still much more to discover about ourselves. I can see you doing anything, that you put your mind to. There isn’t a thing that I can think of that I’d want to do without you by my side. When the day comes and the world shifts. We’ll come to realize the impact that we’ve had on each other.”

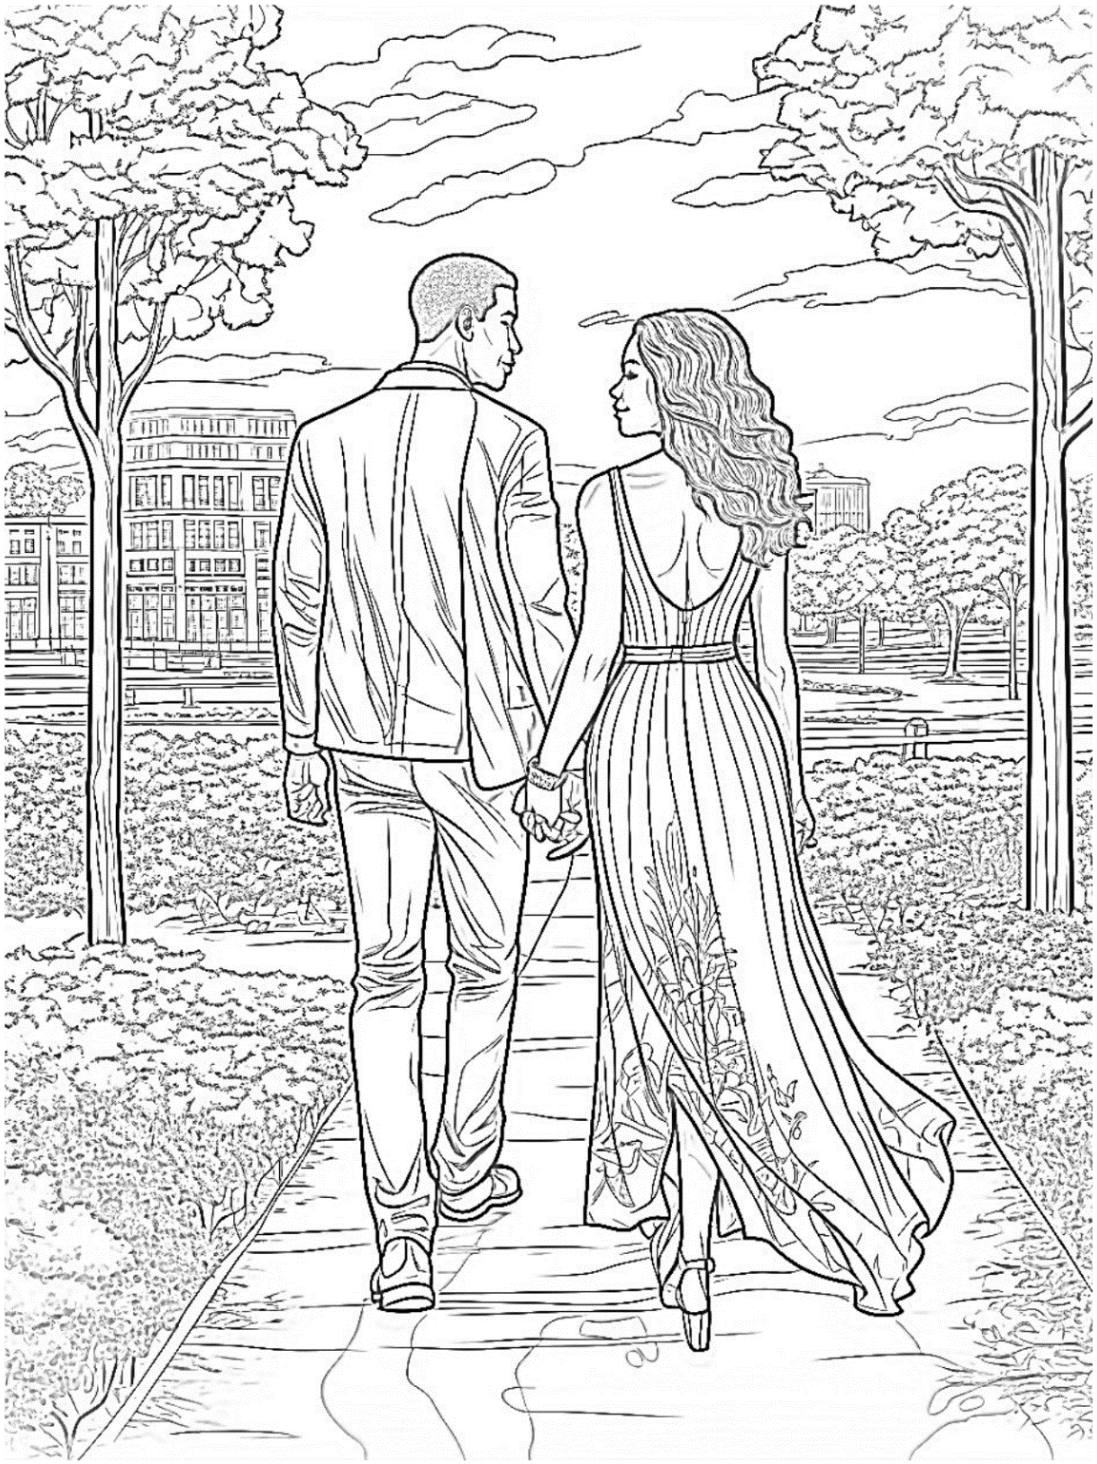
"Two pairs of lips, two hearts, & a fire. All the ingredients to what I believe is the perfect s'more. There really isn't a wrong way to make a s'more. We can layer it however we want. For as long as we want. It's what we don't say that molds us together in the moment that's perfectly understood."

“Like most beautiful things, you came out of nowhere. You showed me to put my heart and mind where it matters most. Sometimes when I squint, I can see your wings & they flutter just as fast as my heart does.”

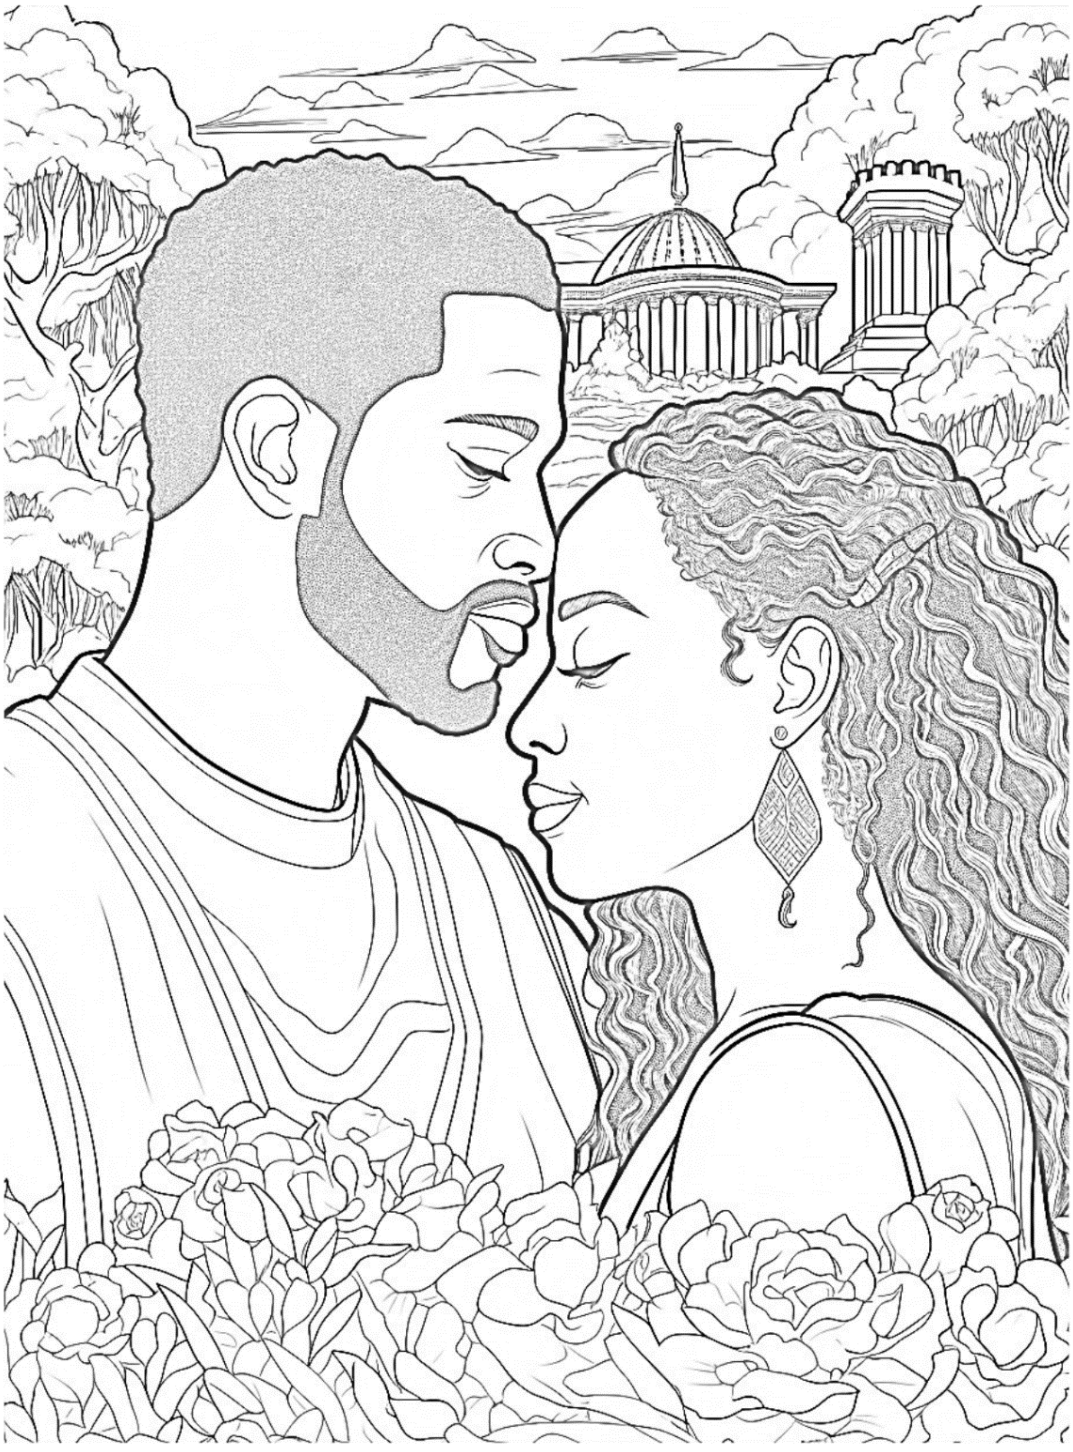
“Finding both love & friendship gift wrapped in your skin. The same intention wrapped in lace ribbon pulled slow in anticipation. I express my gratitude by introducing you to every aspect of my life. I welcome your fullness.”

"I've walked up, down, all around. I've been knocked down and pushed around by the selfishness of the world. The last thing I expected was to look beside me and see you standing there. You are not the world. You are not selfish. The most beautiful things never are."

"I don't let a lot of people in. most days I don't give it a second thought. I've been this way since I was little. When I met you, I knew that I had grown. There was something different about your aura. I discovered that you were the love of your life, as I was the love of mine. Evanescent. Even when we don't see eye to eye. You're my best friend. My second reflection, the one I told the child in me to reach out to in case I wasn't around."



“In the center of your heart I’ve left a pail of water beside a plot where I’ve planted flowers. Each day I will return to lay beside them & speak life into every spec of green that I’ve planted. On the days you don’t feel your best they will be there. On the days it’s hard to find the sun. They will be there. They will serve as a reminder that you too are alive.”



“That secure feeling disguised as butterflies in my stomach. I feel them every time I think about you. one of the best feelings in the world is knowing that I can make you smile. Even when you’re mad. Your laugh is one of my favorite things to hear.”

“Last night I had a dream that we got married & that I passed away. I thought back to when we we're kids accustomed to the best times of my life. While I took your hand you became every thought, everything that I could imagine, & everything that I could not. That when I got to heaven. The road paved in gold was not enough. I wish that God could understand. I wish that you could understand the notes that you've played on the piano of not just my heart, but soul.

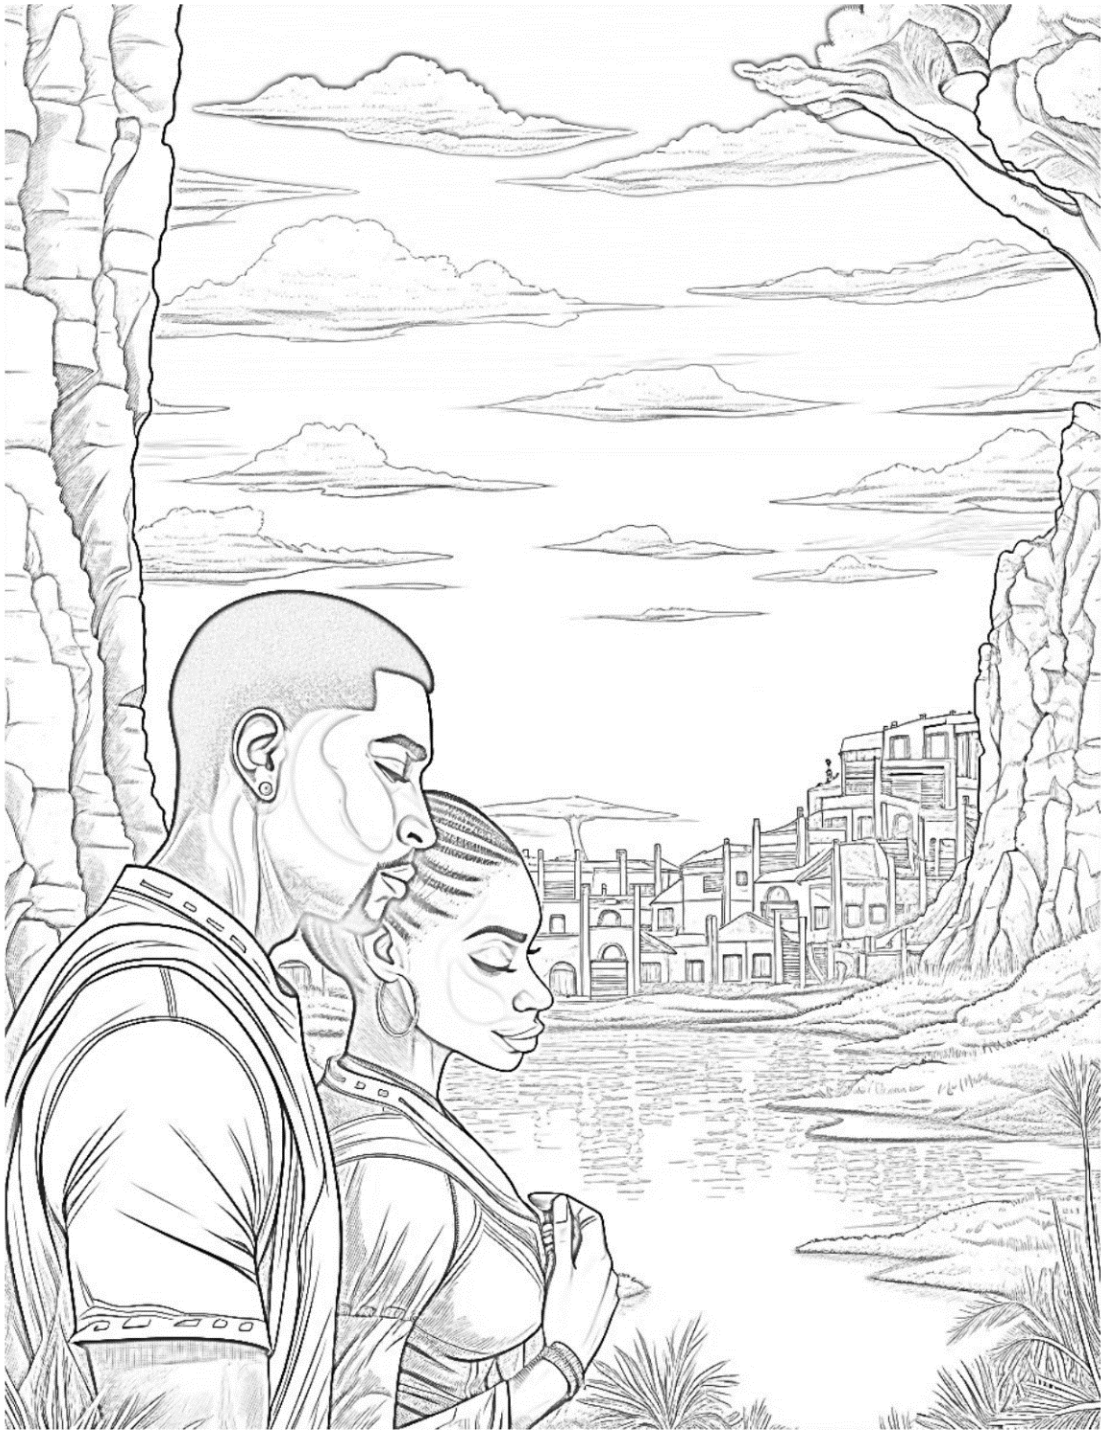
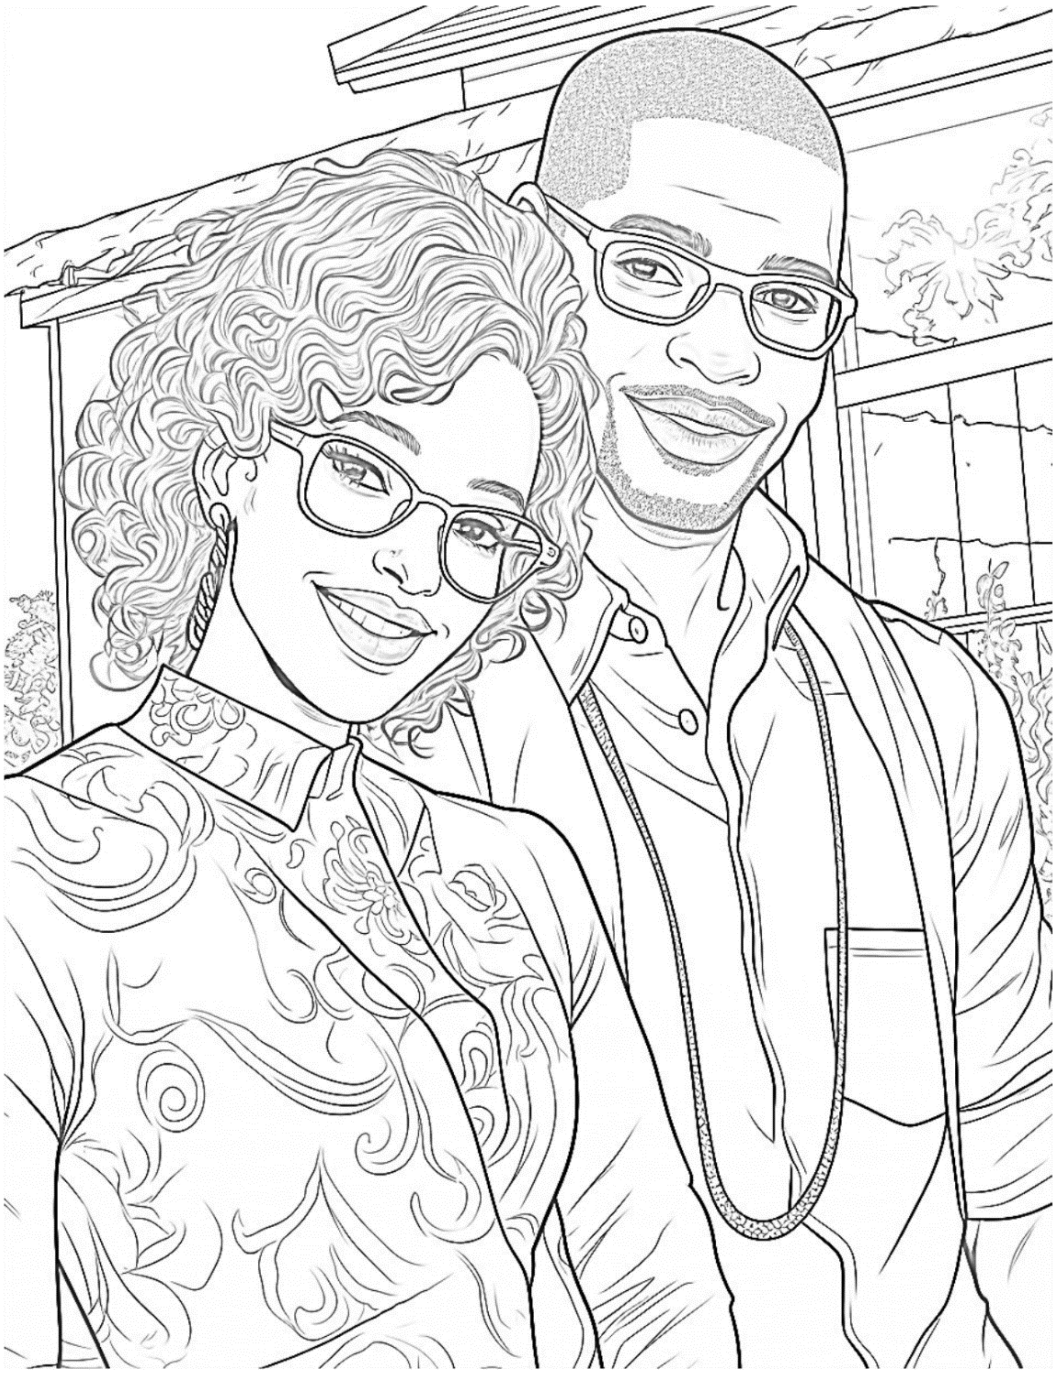
I will always love this song that seamlessly only I can hear. Last night in my dreams, we danced to this song all through the reception, finally understanding the lyrics shared between your body & mine.

In that same dream I passed away before I could wake up, to look over you & to always protect you. Seamlessly, a song only I can hear.”





“Life can take you so much further than what the eyes can see. This is what you’ve instilled in me each time you press your lips against mine. With every piece of yourself that you give me, I take it and put it far from where you can see. It does not accrue interest as fast as you may think; in fact, I keep it separate from everything I own. In the hopes that one day It will be enough to buy a house big enough Where I can house you in my arms and hide the key beneath the gut feelings of past insecurities and into the discipline of staring into your eyes only, all with the pieces I got from you.”